Founding Partner
Fuiman Mogila, LLP
New York, New York

Jason S. Fuiman is the founding partner of Fuiman Mogila, LLP, a union-side labor and employee benefits law firm. Jason advises the boards of trustees of numerous employer pension, welfare, annuity and 401(k) plans—both public and private as well as single and multi-employer—ranging from $3 million to $16 billion in total assets, on all matters relating to fiduciary responsibility, including compliance with ERISA, the Internal Revenue Code, DOL and HHS guidelines, and applicable regulations. He also serves as lead counsel on various employee benefit plan litigation matters involving matters relating to collections, withdrawal liability, benefit denials, fiduciary duty and plan design. He has practiced before numerous district and circuit courts relating to these matters. Jason also served as a contributing editor to the American Bar Association Employee Benefits Law Manual from 2013-2021 and is a regular presenter at the Annual Conference of the International Foundation of Employee Benefit Plans. He is an expert in matters related to defined contribution and 401(k) plans, having spoken at various conferences and written on the topic. Before attending law school, he worked on Capitol Hill as a legislative correspondent for Congresswoman Nydia M. Velazquez of New York and as a staff assistant for the U.S. House of Representatives Small Business Committee. He graduated from George Washington University with a bachelor of science degree in biology and then from the George Washington University Law Center, where he was a contributor to the Public Contracts Law Journal.
