

Stuart Johnson

Foreman and Operator
Aecon/Six Nations
Toronto, Ontario

Stuart Johnson is from Six Nations of The Grand River Territory, Cayuga Nation turtle clan. He currently works for Aecon/Six Nations as a foreman and operator. Stuart started working around machinery at the age of 16 at the Six Nations Public Works Roads Department. He then joined Martin trucking and excavating company, driving dump trucks and floating machinery; digging basements; and installing tile beds, cisterns and underground hydro lines. Stuart joined A6N in August 2016 as a labourer driving the vacuum truck. After driving for three years, he switched to the operator's union to run the excavator and backhoe while installing the waterline. Over the next couple years, Stuart was on different job sites, running excavator and loader. In 2021, he joined the forestry crew running an excavator mulcher and skid steer mulcher and eventually learned how to run the buncher.
