

Anton Ruesing

Executive Director
International Finishing Trades Institute (IFTI)
Orlando, Florida

Anton Ruesing is the executive director of the International Finishing Trades Institute (iFTI), the Labor Management Cooperation Initiative (LMCI) and the Labor Management Partnership (LMP). He holds many of the coatings industry's highest certifications; has taught classes in the U.S., Canada, and overseas; and serves on several industry committees and in technical organizations. After serving in the United States Marine Corps, Ruesing began his career in the trades by graduating from a registered apprenticeship program with the IUPAT. Now, many years later, he continues to be a champion of registered apprenticeship and working people.
